DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 40-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 40 is incomplete in failing to recite where the receiver is receiving signals from; the claim fails to recite structure for the "geopositional information"; there is no structural connection for the "transmitter".

In claim 42, "the heading" and "the determined information" have no antecedent basis.

In claim 43, "the speed" has no antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 48 and 60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Kubota et al, cited by applicants.

Claims 1-3, 5-13, 20, 22, 24-36, 39-60 and 62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by either Revell et al or Shirkey et al.

Revell shows the apparatus mobile unit in figure 4 and additional mobile unit 62 in figure 1, software 604 for predicting and map in figure 8 for defining warning zones. Error correction 203 is shown in figure 2, as well as DGPS receiver, cols. 4, 6, and 7.

Shirkey shows the apparatus with the transmitting of the activation signal in transceiver 24 (mobile) and the reception of the transmitted signals in the GPS receiver 58 in figure 2 that includes mapping software to avoid collision, see col. 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 4, 14-19, 21, 23, 37, 38, and 61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Revell et al or Shirkey et al

With respect to claim 4, the plurality of zones is within the capabilities of the skilled artisan and would find it a matter of routine to employ duplicate zones.

With respect to claims 14-19, 23, note the warning zone with respect to a predetermined range, which is a function of the vehicle's speed, col. 2, lines 6-25, and col. 3 of Shirkey.

With respect to claims 21, 37, frequency decoding for distinguishing among multiple transmitted signals are within the capabilities of the skilled artisan and such would have been obvious to the skilled artisan.

With respect to claim 38, the highest priority would be with respect to the received signals due to range and signal strength in either reference.

Claim 61 only involves duplication of the mobile devices and such would not involve patentable invention.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lucchetti is cited as of interest in showing related collision avoidance systems.
